BRECKENRIDGE
BADLY HURT

THIPPED OVER A PILE OF ROCK ON KING STREET AND GASHED HIS HEAD.

Motorman Breckenridge of the Rapid Transit Company's employ met with a nasty accident while on his way home last evening. He had turned his car in at the Alapai street car barn and proceeded down Alapai to catch the last car for Waikiki as he lives out near Camp McKinley. As the car crossed the end of the street Breckenridge broke into a run but on leaving the sidewalk he did not notice the pile of earth and macadam filled into the newly dug trench of the Gas Company's.

There was no light on the trench at the crossing though there was a red lantern some twenty or twenty-five feet further along.

Breckenridge fell face downwards on the road metal with stunning force and lay quite still. He was picked up and was found to be bleeding freely from an ugly triangular gash exactly in the middle of his forehead where the corner of a broken rock had evidently entered.

He was taken on the car but was quite incoherent for a time and grew worse after a little. The men on the car stopped at the Moana hotel where Dr. Humphreys was sent for and Breckenridge's injuries attended to.
